

Living Forever

Written by Peter Fonteece

Despite the enticing prospects that science may dangle in front of humankind, it will become apparent over time that a human being can never achieve immortality while still in his or her material body. And, a purely rational human being would not want to live forever upon the earth because of the accumulation of unpleasant and even horrendous experiences.

Knowing this from eternity, the Divine Perfect One created human beings with souls. The soul is the spirit of the person's mind and heart in human form which exists eternally in the spiritual world. The human soul was intended to live forever in a Heavenly paradise with The Divine Perfect One, separated from those who wish to immerse themselves in evils.

Yet, far too often, for reasons of self-glorification and unbridled greed, humans reject this Heavenly paradise, and The Divine Perfect One. Instead, they follow dark paths which lead far, far away from Heaven. Paths which lead to concepts such as the downloading of a mind into a computer and the subsequent discarding of the human body. Computers which, supposedly, will be able to live forever. Yet, through these types of schemes, humankind is simply desiring to replace the soul with technology, a Heavenly paradise with materialistic constructs, and The Divine Perfect One with fallible and corrupt human architects.

Architects who will guide people into these grand schemes with neither wisdom or love. Architects, it must be said, who have the ability (although, no doubt, they'll deny it), of being able to pull the plug on your technological soul at any given point in time. (Pray that not one of them ever has a bad day, or simply a need to lash out, or, succumbs to a momentary insanity!)

The reality is that you do live forever, and, in fact, were spiritually created by The Divine Perfect One to do so. Therefore, immortality is not a quest which you need to pursue or put your energies into. The Divine Perfect One has already taken care of it. What you need to pursue is whether you will choose truth and all that is good, or lies and all that is evil. In other words, Heaven or hell.
